Commercial.

THIS DAY.

We have not a single transaction to report from the Share Market this morning. Banks keep firm with cash buyers at 194 premium and 201 for the end of August. Docks and Steamboats have fallen one point each-without inducing buyers to come forward. Luzons are much weaker and are freely offering at 871 per share; a fall of five points since yesterday, Nothing in other stocks requires special mention.

4 o'clock p.m. A fair amount of business has been put through since our morning report was circulated. Banks have changed hands at 195, for cash, and the stock remains in strong demand at the rate. Sales of Docks have been reported at 56 per cent, premium, and further business is likely to result. China Sugars are in strong demand; after sales at 196 further offers to purchase were not responded to, -Luzons, on the other hand, continue their downward course. A few shares were negociated for cash at 70, but sellers still rule the market. Other quotations speak for themselves,

R. MOORE begs to recommend his GOGO SHAMPOO WASH to the public as unrivalled by any preparation ever produced for promoting the growth of the hair. The basis of this compound is made of scap root; the natives of the Philippine Islands never use anything else-for washing their hair; they are never found bald and it is quite common to see the females with hair from 5 to 6 feet long. By constantly using this Shampoo Wash as directed, you will NEVER BE BALD. The proprietor offers the Wash to the public entirely confident that, by its restorative properties it will without fail arrest decaying hair. It completely eradicates scurf, dandruff and cures all diseases of the scalp. It does not contain any poisonous drugs. By its cooling properties it allays the itching and fever of the scalp, which is the great cause of people losing their hair. Mr. Moore has succeeded in being able to put this wash up in bottles without allowing it to terment, and he will guarantee it to keep any length of time in any climate. FOR SALE ONLY BY MOORE & Co., VARIETY STORE.

A CORRESPONDENT writes to us from Taku. dating the 16th inst.:-You will be glad to hear that our railway prospects are decidedly looking up. The Foochow transport No. 13, Hai-Ching, arrived off the bar yesterday with a lot of the plant of the ill fated Woosung Railway which she has brought up from Formosa. Another vessel, a sailing ship I hear, is bringing up some have sprung up all over the land. These inmore of the material, so we are likely to see the old Woosung plant utilised for the Tientsin and Taku or Tientsin and Peking railway. At all events it is quite evident that the authorities here mean to stir themselves in the matter of railways. After the Hai Ching has discharged her cargo, she will be placed in the hands of the Naval Yard people here to be thoroughly overhauled, and then she will join the Pei-Yang squadron. England did not. This is the strongest evidence there, declaring that the present distress is chiefly At present this squadron seems to be made a refuge for all the old and played-out Nam Yang ships, such as the Kang-chi and Hai Ching, both of which will-require about from four-to-six once made for us in England. months repairs before they can be madeavailable for service. No other news worth relating, saving rumours of war, and you probably know more on that subject than I can tell you.

WE learn that the Canton-Kowloon Wa Hop Telegraph Company's line has been completed for some time, and will probably in the course of a few days be thrown open to the public. Mr. Ho Amei, the director of the enterprise, is at present in Canton conferring with His Excellency the Viceroy on matters of importance connected with the telegraph, and on his return it is expected the new line will be formally declared open: A_temporary_station has been erected at the small Hahkka village directly opposite Stonecutters Island, and communication will be carried on for the present between that terminus and Hongkong by a fast steam launch. As soon as the requisite permission has been obtained from Her Majesty's Government a cable will be laid across the harbour to this city. The whole of the work connected with the construction of the line has been carried out under the personal direction of Mr. F. A. Velschow, ingénieur de l'Ecole Polytechnique de Danemark, of the Great Northern Company, who, considering the vast difficulties that have arisen to retard progress, is entitled to great credit for the admirablemanner in which he has performed a most arduous duty.

SAYS the Japan Mall:-As we have once or twice remarked, in all comparisons instituted in this vicinity between the naval forces of Japan and China, it has been the habit to omit consideration of the personnel of either service. The gradual increase in the number of ships belonging to China has been carefully noted, parently with the desire to create an impression that Japan will find it impossible to compete with such maritime strength as her neighbour can now mass at any given point. When Shylock said that ships are but boards, he sagaciously added that sailors are men; and in the management of a warficet more defends upon men, and their quality, than upon the ships engaged. The Japanese have long ago given evidence that they know how to work their own vessels, while no Chinese craft has even ventured from port, we believe, excepting under foreign control or guidance. Nine years since, a small Japanese corvette happened to be between a Chinese frigate of considerable size and a smaller gunboat, in the roadstead of Liangkias, on the Formosa coast, under circumstances which might have developed into a condition of extreme unfriendliness; and it was interesting to contrast the demeanour and bearing of the different crews. The Japanese were kept in strict discipline, but the expression of their countenances could not be restrained, nor was their convenation among themselves very rigorously suppressed. In spite of their numerical inferiority, and the comparative weakness of their armament, they were as eager for the chance of a fray as if each individual sailor had a private cause of grievance in the Formosa dispute. Their hostile spirit, however, could not be long continued, for the meek and deprecatory attitude of the Chinese gave it nothing to feed upon. Whispering humbleness was their game, for officers and men alike... So the Japanese tars were obliged to pessess their souls in contemptuous patience, until the time arrived for the departure of the dragon squadron, when the interchange of a salute became necessary. The utter inability of the Chinese to perform this simply ceremony seemed to drive away al thoughts but derision from the minds of the Japanese. The yellow flag was duly honored by twenty-one guns from the corvette Nishin, the big frigate bungled over the response in the most pitiable way. Six reports were first heard, at intervals varying from two to thirty seconds. Then came a pause of at least three minutes. followed by six more irregular and confused exiplosions, after which ensued a delay so extended as to excite surprise. A boot was actually started from the "Nishin" to inquire if an accident had occurred, and if help were needed, when ilx more ill-timed detonations burst forth, succeeded, in the same lubberly fashion, by the final wind up of the remaining discharges. The Japanese officer sent to investigate, learned that the frigate kept orthy six cannon cleaned and ready for firing; and that the irregularities, in time were caused by the unskillulness or want of practice of the gunners. There was nothing but laughter for the Chinese navy, after that; and the news that several of the sailors were drowned a few days later, in trying to get ashore at Takao, did not increase the esteem of Japanese Jacky for the seamen of the Middle Kingdom.

INDUSTRIAL WARS.

Industrial wars are not unusual in the history of the world. But they have heretofore been the object or the complement of actual hostilities. One of the projects of the first Napoleon was to ·close the ports of Europe to English commerce. Of a like character have been the wars waged Great Britain and France in the Orient. But an industrial war without bayonets may be regarded as rare. It has to be said that civilization is, not on the eve of a contest of that character, but at this moment is engaged, least in one phase of it. Further, if wiser counsels are not soon resorted to, it will be certain to assume very wide dimensions. This warfare is

The financial necessities of the Civil War forced us to enter on a system of protection which no -mere political theorists would ever have been able to set up. The consequences are visible in the multitude of industries that dustries give employment to millions of hand old and young and to both sexes. Only one instance need be mentioned-at one blow we captured one-half of the silk trade formerly carried on with France, and bid fair before long to get it all. England, however, has been the greatest sufferer from our fiscal policy. The stagnation which was the result of our monetary troubles was reproduced in England. We rapidly farmers assembled at Idsumo in the prefecture of recovered as soon as resumption took place, but that could be adduced of the fact that our tariff is the prime cause of the falling off in prosperity rioters were, however, dispersed by the police.

of that nation. The reason is obvious enough Kobe appears to have at last succeeded i -we are now manufacturing most of the articl

Efforts have been made from time to time to win us back to the old system. Our good friend, John Bright, has remonstrated with us on the subject. Threats likewise have not been want ing. A party has been developed in England called the Fair Trade party. It proposes to take the place of the Free Trade party. When conventional physics are laid aside its programme is to make reprisals upon us. But the only place where it thinks a blow can be struck is at cereals. Nothing, however, has been done in that direction and nothing is likely ever to be done. The bottom fact is that England does not produce enough of breadstuffs to speculate as to when that great cataclysm branch. is going to occur. Until it takes place, however, England will have to get a large portion of her food supply from the United States. We have rivals in Russia, Egypt, and in India more recently, but they have not been able so far to drive us from the field. To impose a duty on breadstuffs in England would simply be to tax spectively. the British publicand not exclude the American farmer. The Corn law duties were repealed in 1846 to avoid a greater disaster-than-a-retrench ment of the revenues of the aristocracy-namely a revolution. The occasion was one simply in which the loom-lords triumphed over the land lords. Nothing so far has come out of the Fair Trade agilation but an underhand movement against American cattle on the ground that the foot and mouth disease is prevalent among

But other nations have since taken part in the struggle. Germany, after the close of the war with France, conceived the idea of crippling the latter financially. It demonetized silver with that object in view, but lost much of its gold in the operation. To open once more its factories it resorted to a high tariff, but, constructed on the principle of helping along the nobility. Among other things a heavy duty was placed on wheat. In this way we have come in for some side blows in that contest. In addition a raid is being made on American pork, which has led our people to unearth the fact that Germany is knitting a large portion of our stockings-a work which we may as well carry on ourselves. If it should be found necessary to hunt up other methods of reprisal the task will not be a very difficult one.

In another part of the field France is also making herself felt. The commercial treaty with England, negotiated originally by Cobden, who exercised as wonderful an influence over the mind of Napoleon III as he did over that of Sir Robert Peel on the question of the repeal of the Corn laws, has not been renewed. France knows well the value of protection. Once she imported all the sugar which she consumed. Now she makes all she wants out of the beet-an idea for which, by the way, she is indebted to Frederick the Great But we have come in for a side lick here also. France naturally does not like the continuance of the stagnation at Lyons, which is not only a great silk manufacturing centre, but likewise a political volcano. The wine interest similarly is dissatisfied with our tariff. American pork is at present standing the brunt of the fight in France also.

It will thus be seen that, from a variety of causes, we are coming in for thrusts all around. The first fact to be noted is a general reaction toward protection among the more enlightened nations with a tendency to industrial war, in some cases. If the war should not pass beyond the present stage-an attack, real or feigned, upon bad food and adulteration-great benefit is sure to accrue to humanity. We are in a position to fight on that line with great effect. We have already made a movement in force on the adulterated teas of China and Japan. It is possible for us to pursue the same course toward the adulterated wines not only of France but Germany, and of the olive oils of the former, There is no reason why we should export cottonseed oil to France to be flavored with the olive, and import it as olive oil, when we have cottonseed oil in the South and the ollve in California. Better still, we can compel, as in the case of oleoniargarine, cotton-seed oil to be sold as such -and it is not bad as food in that shape-and olive oil as olive oil

If the contest should pass from adulteration, now by the way mostly a pretence, to real industrial reprisals, we can take a hand in that form of the game likewise. The United States would not suffer very badly if imports were reduced considerably below what they are at present. Probably in no other way can a knowledge of the excellence of the home article in a great many cases be brought to the knowledge of the general public. The United States has long been the paradise of labels. We have been taking back too many of our own productions doctored to suit the national taste. An industrial war apparently is the very thing we want. But we do not propose to precipitate one, unless the underhand discrimination against some of our staples is not abandoned. San

The steamer which recently arrived at this port, named the Patricio, and which has been purchased by the Union Shipping Company, has hoisted the Japanese flag and is now called the Yechigo-Marie. The Company have lost no time in placing their most execent acquisition on the berth, as she sails hence to-day for Hakodate, and we understand that Captain Jones, late in command of the Sukune-Maru, has taken charge of the new steamer, which is, by all accounts, eminently suited for the trade for which she is required.

The Mitsu Bishi Company have lost another steamer, making the third during the past twelve months, and the sixth since 1871. Information was received in Tokiyo, on the 15th instant to the effect that the Sumida Maru, Captain Hubenet, while on a voyage from Hongkong to Kobe, went ashore on a group of rocks near Futagashima, an island in the Genkai Nada the north-west coast of the province of Chikuzen. Explicit details are not yet to hand, but the telegram speaks of the vessel being of water, so that few hopes of saving her are entertained. A steamer was immediately despatched from Kobe to her assistance, and another from. Yokohama on the 16th instant. The accident is reported as having occurred at 2 o'clock aim, on the 15th instant. If this be the case, it would appear that Captain Hubenet attempted the passage of the Shimonosaki Strait during the night, a most dangerous operation and one which, if we are rightly informed, is generally deprecated by mariners on this coast. The spot where the Sumida went ashere is some five or six miles north of the Shimonosaki Light, and ing outside the Strait is unfavorably situated for salvage operations. Much sympathy is felt for the Mitsu Bishi Company, whose management of their fleet certainly deserves better fortune than has lately fallen to their lot. - Japan

ABRIDGED PROSPECTUS. THIS Company is formed for the purpose of · acquiring, developing and largely increasing the business of Messrs. HALL & HOLTZ, and of conducting the same, so far as the Shareholders are concerned, upon the Co-operative principle. With this view the Provisional Committee have arranged to acquire the leasehold store and premises in the Nanking and Szechuen Roads and the freehold manufactory and godown in the Yuen-Ming-Yuen and Soochow Roads, together with the plant, machinery, fixtures, stock-in-trade and good will of the Firm's business, upon very advantageous terms. The following are the principal departments of the business as at present carried on, viz:-Household and General Stores, Wines, Spirits and other liquors, Bakery, Tailoring and Gentlemens' Outfitting, Drapery, Ladies' and Childrens' Outfitting, Fancy Goods, Furnishing and General Upholstery.

Each branch of the business is in good working order, and well provided with all requisite fixtures and plant, while the stock is large and -suitable, and the present staff of assistants is thoroughly well qualified.

To aid production in the furniture factory, powerful steam wood-working machinery has been ordered and may shortly be expected from

The gross returns of the Firm's business during the four years ended the 31st of March, 1882 have averaged about $310,000.00 per annum, while the average annual profit during the same period has, after making ample allowance for bad debts, been over $49,000.00.

Messrs. AUGUSTUS WHITE and GEORGE R. CORNER have certified to the above figures:-

While the averages mentioned above are for a period of four years, the business done during the latter two of those years shows a marked increase, the profits for the-two years ended the :31st of March 1882 being over $109,000, or about $20,000 in excess of the previous two

The accounts for the year ended 31st March, 1883, have not yet been fully made up, but the Day Books, for the last six months of that year show Net Sales of $178,137.97, against $166,277.64 for the corresponding period of the previous year, being an increase of $11,860.33.

" The net profits of the business of the Company will be applied in the first place to paying interest to the Shareholders upon their Capital at the rate of 10 per cent, per annum, and of whatever surplus may remain one-third will be applied in such way as the Shareholders shall from time to time determine, and the remaining twothirds will be divided among those Shareholders who are contributors of business, pro rata, according to the amount of business contributed by each during the year in respect of which the distribution is made. The purchase price to be paid for the land, buildings, plant, steam and other machinery, fixtures, and goodwill appertaining to Messrs, HALL & HOLTZ' business has been fixed at the sum of Tis. 150,000, in part payment of which sum the vendors are prepared to accept Tls. 50,000, in fully paid up shares in the Company and two-thirds of the balance by equal instalments, 12 and 18 months repectively from the formation of the Company, thus leaving only Tis. 33,334 to be paid down. The unpaid purchase money will bear interest at the rate of five per cent only, and the Directors will have the option of anticipating any payment of principal should they think fit to do so. The Vendors are prepared to dispose of their stock, all of which has been expressly imported for the business, and is in good condition, at its cost, as laid down in Shanghai. Its, estimated value is about Tis. 125,000. Power will be taken in the Deed of Settlement to increase the Capital of the Company should such increase, at any future time, appear to the Shareholders desirable. ..

The present members of the Firm of HALL & A Plan of the Seats can be seen at MAR. HOLTZ have agreed to remain in the Company's service for, at least three years, and to do their utmost to further its interests.

The Agreement of sale and the draft Deed of Settlement are open for inspection at the Office of the Company's Legal Adviser.

Prospectuses and Forms of Application for Shares can be obtained from Messrs, HALL & HOLTZ, or from the Company's Bankers. Application for Shares, at Hongkong or Foochow, can be made to HONGKONG, THURSDAY, JUNE 28, 1883.

THE result of the libel case Bulgin z. Fraser-Smith, tried before Mr. Justice Russalt and a special jury, at the Supreme Court on Monday last, is another startling indication of the clastic nature of the Libe Act and a convincing proof of the extraordinary legal acumen and profound intelligence of a Hongkong jury. The verdict returned in this case simply closes the door to anything like independent discussion in the public press of this Colony. Ithas been practically decided by these gentlemen that anything in the slightest degree offensive to or reflecting on any plaintiff is a malicious libel which demands damages, no matter under what circumstances the affair may have been brought before the malistic engagements! Mr. Butcin's mepublic. The decisions of all the great; English Judges during the past seventeen years have been totally set aside or ignored; it has been held that there is no such thing as a qualified privilege attached | own letter drew forth the reluctant adto newspaper publications; the spirit as mission that he had given some inwell as the letter of the law have been formation; but he could not remember. quietly "shelved;" and damages have been awarded for fairly and justifiably wandering when he alluded to Mr. GRIBBLE, publishing harmless expressions, which under no possible combination-of circumstances, could be construed by reasonable and thinking men to mean what the law terms " a false and malicious libel." Hongkong press would in future appear to be placed completely at the mercy of any low, sneaking scamp, who cares to insult decency and public intelligence by flaunting his toothless venom [Japan, beyond his "impressions." Mr. and brazen impudence in the columns of any wretched print, and who, when his shallow pretensions are held up to public ridicule, seeks compensation for his wounded feelings and sham reputation at the hands of a jury in an action at law.

The facts in the case Bulgin y. FRASER-Suith are easily dealt with. The first named in his capacity as editor of the China Mail publishes what is supposed to be a criticism of a paragraph in the Nagasaki Rising Sun. In this criticism (?) Mr. Bulgin wrote:-"It is a mean and cowardly proceeding of was in his mind when he wrote it." which amateur journalists are frequently guilty, to make vituperative and senseless remarks concerning persons who do not act, exactly in accordance with their wishes." Now these exceedingly chaste or was not delamatory and therefore actionobservations were really not elicited by opinions of the Rising Sun on the subject any police court reporting-in-London-for nor less than a grossly offensive and per- | defendant's sworn statement were quite | play the same feeling of loyal patriotism.

sonal attack on somebody-who that somebody is even Mr. Bulgin, on oath, was not quite sure. The defendant in dealing -with-the matter in the columns of the Telegraph asked what justification Mr. Bulgin had for setting himself up as an authority on the acts of journalists, and made a statement to the effect that this self constituted critic's journalistic experiences prior to coming to China had been confined to police court reporting for a low class paper called the Clerkenwell News, that he had been a journalistic failure in Hongkong, Yokohama and Shanghai; hadwritten a lot of vulgar trash; and was, judged by the criticism quoted above, an impertinent "puppy," whose cheek was his strongest point. Mr. Bulein was further advised to confine himself as much as possible in his capacity of Editor of the China Mail to the use of the scissors and paste brush. There can be little doubt that Mr. FRASER-SMITH in writing of Mr. Bulgin's journalistic experiences prior to coming to China, intended to refer to his London experiences, and the omission of a single word was taken to completely alter the meaning of what was said to be a false and malicious libel -This-kind-of-thing-may-be-strict-law,-butit is a long way from being strictly just. Although Mr. Buzgin's insulting and un--called for references to the mean and cowardly amateur journalist he had in his mind's eye, were ten times more scandalous and disgraceful than the paragraph in the Telegraph, the thin-skinned self-constituted literary expert, the greatly selflauded author and journalist considered it necessary in defence of his "precious reputation" to institute legal proceedings for defamation of character. Under examination in the witness box it was elicited from Mr. Bulgin that his only London experiences were on the Daily Chroniclewhich was and is still known as the Clerkenwell Navi-but in addition to the had been one year on the Cheltenham Times "to learn journalism; " four and a half years on some country papers known as "Mr. BAXTER's South of England newspapers; " and one year on the Rossendale News. As Mr. Bulgin's provincial experiences had been omitted, it was alleged that the re--ference-made-by-the defendant-to-his status as a journalist were false, and consequently malicious and libellous.

-Judging from the cross-examination of Mr. Bulgin, we are inclined to think that. from a practical point of view, Mr. FRASER-Smith's summing up of the Editor of the China Mail's journalistic experiences t constitute him a literary expert was substantially correct. We saw Mr. Bulgin under examination by Mr. Francis, we heard, his replies to Mr. FRASER-SMITH's "heckling," and we are of opinion that the talented author of "Notes on Australasia, South Africa, and Mauritius' displayed sufficient aptitude in the art of playing with the truth to entitle him to a place in the niche of fame along side that great champion, DANIEL EDWARD BANDHANN. Mr. Bulgin's memory was greatly at fault when he made a mistake of a year and a half in stating his age; or was it not a slight error in the not too carefully compiled list of his jourmory was again unreliable when he swore that he had never mentioned anything in any way to the defendant about his police court reporting in London. His Mr. Buloin's imagination was evidently who, hesaid, was editor of the Nagasaki E.rpress when he (Bulgin) was in Japan. Mr. Bulgin's experiences in Japan, according to his own sworn statement, extended over the space of one calendar month; but a far more reliable authority. In our estimation, the Shanghai Mercury, says a fortnight was his full term on the Japan Mail. In any case, he could know very little about Bulgin said he knew Mr. Rivington, the editor of the Mercury, and in the next breath confessed that he had never spoken to that gentleman in his life. Mr. Bulow when brought to the scratch was compelled

We are inclined to believe that had the Bulgin v., Fraskr-Smith libel case been tried in England, apart altogether from the question whether the alleged libe! was able, the admissions of Mr. Butain in the anything published in the Nagasaki paper; | witness box would have extinguished his they were not, so far as can be seen, either | chances of obtaining a favorable verdict justifiable, or in any way called for; nor from any practical and intelligent jury. enough to show that he was not the wit--ness-of-truth.--The change of-the-paper name from the Clerkenvell News to the Daily Chronicle and Clerkenwell News (?) raised a paltry quibble too contemptible to be seriously considered. Mr. Bulein swore he was for one year editor and manager of the Rossendale News. There is as a matter of fact, no such paper in existence. In the little town of Bacup in Lan cashire, some 22 miles from Manchester, a small weekly paper is published, but its proper title is not the Rossendale News as sworn to by Mr. JAMES BULGIN, and this fact that estimable gentleman knows right well. There are some half truths worse than a deliberate lie; this was one of them. The real question at issue, was-Had the defendant falsely and maliciously defamed the professional reputation and prospects of the plaintiff by asserting that his journalistic experiences prior to coming to China were practically not of such a character as to justify his setting himself up as an authority on literary matters, and to entitle him to speak of his fellow labourers in the field of journalism as mean, cowardly and contemptible? In the face of the whole of the facts of the case, we think that in no place in the wide world, excepting Hongkong; would the plaintiff have obtained a verdict. -

The damage to Mr. Buzoin's professional prospects and reputation was estimated at 8100-not a lordly amount, it must be admitted. After he has paid his counsel's -retainer, we opine that the balance-re- his ideas of a "jury of four" muddled up with maining will not go a great way towards providing the succulent sausage or the soul inspiring bloater for this mighty editor's Says that pious humbug the Reverend Joe matutinal meals. But really it is not worth while. Public opinion in Hongkong is with us, and that is all we really care about. We shall certainly send a full report of the proceedings to the highest legal authorities in London-as we did with most gratifying results to ourselves in the BANDMANN case—but merely for our own satisfaction, as we really are anxious to know how far a public journal can go in its criticisms without being liable to the annoyance of a libel action. We should regret exceedingly to have to resort to club-law; but really if the Law of Libel is what has been laid down in the case now under consideration, it would be far better for an independent Editor to plead his cause before a Magistrate than to be subjected to the tender mercies of a Hong-

The writer throws out the suggestion that members who have sat in Parliament for, say, twenty-five or thirty years, and who may wish to retire from its active duties without losing their entire interest in it, should have the privilege of becoming honorary though no longer honourable members.

A VERY curious case, which has been before the decided. It appears that in 1866 a certain Zouave (named Jacob) was suddenly invested with the power of curing all manner of bodily infirmities by the glance of his eye. The letters produced incourt show that "Jacob's cure" enjoyed agrest vogue; marshals of the French army were among his clients, and one of them who was lame testifies to the fact that after meeting Jacob's eye "he was able to dispense with his crutches and dance round his garden." Jacob was as generous as he was powerful; he refused to accept any money for his services, and rejected the offers of all the Harnums who were anxious to exhibit him. At last, however, he came to terms with a Catholic publisher, M. Repos. Jacob was to write "at the dictation of Jacob"; M. ARCHER's Surprise Party gave a very successful performance in the Concordin Theatre, Canton, on Tuesday evening to a rather select but highly appreciative audience. How juries manage in Paris. Soufflet, a young artizan, had a row in a pub. with one Astheimer, because the former declined to pay after having invited A to drink. He was kicked outside by wooden plank; waited for A at the street corner, and hit him with it over the head in such a manner that A. dropped dead. Council for the prisoner now informed the jury that Soufflet was well known to be a man of a violent temper, and Asthelmer should have known better than irritate him by declining to pay for the drinks. As he persisted in doing so to his own danger, it was A.'s own fault that he got killed. The jury were so impressed with this argument that they brought in a verdict of "not guilty."

A FAIRLY large number of spectators attended. the performance at Chiarini's circus last night when a repetition of the previous evening's programme was gone through. The artists engaged were well received in their-various acts and were -accorded warm-applause. A grand change of programme has been advertised for to-night's show in which the English clowns, Messra. French and Angelo, will make their first joint appearance. A grand tumbling exhibition by the entire company is also announced. For the first time this season Mr. Lavater Lee will appear and present his somersaults and pirouettes on horse-back. When Mr. Lee was here before he created a very favorable impression by his brilliant and finished riding of the trick act school so we are looking forward to being treated to something good to-night. Signor Chiarini will introduce his four black stallions and show what patient training is capable of when applied to that noblest specimen of the brute creation, the horse. The Walhalia brothers in their musical interlude, and the laughable pantomime of the "Four Lovers," to say nothing of the skating exhibition of the Goodrich family, which will be repeated by special request, should attract a large audience to the Bowrington marquee.

"THE classic Bandmann" does not appear from our latest advices to be electrifying the good people of Australia. Week after week the newspapers teem with paragraphs turning the efforts. of "Shakespere's patron" into ridicule. Hamlet in black thread gloves excites merriment; Romeo in the guise of a fat Cupid is received with howls of derisive laughter. When "the greattragedian " appears as Shylock, an unkind audience is rudo enough to address him from the pit as "Old Shixty per Shent," and in some towns he has been recommended "to go back to Hongkong and get kicked." In a recent number of the Sydney Bulletin appears the following amusing description of one of Daniel's exhibitions :- We have received from Mackay (Q.) anaccount of Mr. Bandmann's performance of Hamlet " there. Our correspondent writes currente calamo and le caustic, besides ...
